Campion Program Evaluated

At the request of Father Lucey, S.J., a committee of educators spent three days on campus in early November evaluating our program. They studied our stated objectives and observed procedures to judge their effectiveness. Four of the committee members are also on our Board of Regents: James Reiels, Ph. D., Principal of Nicolet High School, Milwaukee, and Chairman of the Committee; Father Jack Zuercher, S.J.,

Wisconsin Province Director of Education; Sister Clare Wagner, Dominican teacher from Edgewood High School, Madison, and former Principal of St. Clare Academy; and Robert Beh, '48, Vice President of Carleton D. Beh, Co.

Dr. James Reiels

The other four members of the committee work in education: Father Roman Bernert, S.J., Professor of education at Marquette University and former Principal of Campion; Father Thomas Schloemer, S.J., Minister of Creighton Prep, Omaha, and former Principal of Marquette High School; Sister Michaelleen Gibbons, Principal of Our Lady of Peace High School, St. Paul, Minnesota; and Robert Burke, Director of Educational Research, Archdiocese of St. Paul. The purpose of the evaluation was twofold: to provide the staff and administration of Campion with an analysis by outsiders to aid us in our own self-evaluation and development of our programs; and to provide a report to the Provincial of the Wisconsin Province and to the Board of Regents.

Subcommittees of two members each worked independently to observe: student life; the instructional program; administration and staff, and finances and facilities.

In many ways their report was most gratifying and encouraging, since they commended the very things we consider our strengths. Their observations on student life were most positive. They noted an unusually high level of morale among the students and an unusual, deep concern for other students on the part of many students. They felt that most of the students they spoke with seemed to have a maturity beyond that of their peers in other school situations. They seem to have a sense of responsibility; growth toward independence is evident.

The committee felt the relationships between wing advisors and students was good and had great depth. They commended the dorm staff for the many hours they are available to students. They praised the student advisors program as one that developed a high level of responsibility among the student advisors and fostered good student-student relationships. They noticed a very positive attitude among most students toward

Annual Fund Running Strong

On January 13, 1972 Campion's endowment fund got a boost of $5,000 from an alumnus of 1911. As Father Lucey, S.J., remarked: "That made my day."

Before that the Annual Fund Drive was already running ahead of the two previous years. As of January 7, gifts and pledges to the Annual Fund topped $70,000. That exceeds considerably gifts and pledges of $46,000 at this time last year, and even tops the record $64,000 of the previous year.

The enthusiasm and hard work of the co-chairmen of the parents' division in making personal contacts accounts for the bulk of the funds contributed so far. The response of parents contacted has been very gratifying.

An added effort has also been made this year to contact parents of alumni. In October a committee of parents of alumni, headed by Thomas P. McErlean, was formed to seek active support for Campion from parents of alumni. In November a letter from the committee went out stating their intention to lend general support to Campion through feedback, advice, and some help on student recruiting. The letter also sought financial support. Last year, with little or no solicitation, parents of alumni contributed almost $12,000 to Campion. With an organized effort this year, a substantial increase is expected. Early returns are very encouraging.

The number one priority for January and February is to organize the alumni division of the Annual Fund. Under Robert Beh, '48, Chairman of the Alumni Division, class agents will be asked to contact five to ten classmates by mail or phone. A general letter will go out from the chairman to all alumni. A telethon is being planned for later in the spring. Last year 393 of 3734 active alumni contributed to the Annual Fund. This year the aim is to double participation among alumni.

Message For The New Year

At our student liturgy recently, during the prayer of the faithful, a freshman commented: "When I came in here this evening and saw the Christmas tree, I thought, why do we call that kind of a tree a Christmas tree. Why don't we call all trees Christmas trees? That would really express what Christmas is all about: God entered the whole of His creation through Jesus' coming."

Trees stand in each of our lives; we are surrounded by them. We all face the nitty gritty of life, the pangs of separation, physical or psychic, fears and anxieties. We all know breathtaking, uplifting beauty, the smile of a healthy child, the kindness of a friend, the encouragement of a troubled man. All of these are Christmas trees; "God has entered the whole of His creation." God is with us. May you sense anew, during this holiday, His presence.

Alumni Reunions

The Campion alumni office is beginning to organize the June reunions. As in the past, the success of the reunions will depend heavily on the energy, enthusiasm, and ingenuity of the class chairmen in spurring interest among their classmates to gather again. Last year, Msgr. Matt Weber '21 C'25 wrote a four-page letter full of bits of nostalgia from the good old days that persuaded over fifty alumni from the pre-33 group to return and fill in some of those memories. If you are a member of the class of 1967, 1962, 1957, 1952, 1947, 1942, or pre-1937, and would like to act as a chairman for this year's reunion, write to Joseph P. O'Neill at Campion. Or, if you want to nominate the ideal organizer from your class, send in his name. He and the rest of your classmates will be grateful when the crowd gathers in June.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the following graduates, please notify Mr. Joseph O'Neill or the Campion Alumni office.

Class reunions are scheduled for June; invitations will soon be extended and we need address corrections.

Senior Named Science Winner

John H. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Larson, 1925 State Road, La Crosse, has been announced the winner of the Bausch & Lomb Science Award at Campion Jesuit High School, Prairie du Chien.

Mr. John G. Boor, principal of Campion, stated that the Bausch & Lomb Science Award is especially significant because it recognizes the senior with the highest scholastic standing in scientific subjects.

As winner of the award, Larson is eligible to compete for a four-year Bausch & Lomb science scholarship at the University of Rochester, New York. Scholarship winners are selected on the basis of merit and stipends are based on need and may range up to $3,500 per year.

The science award, a handsome bronze medal, is presented each year by the Bausch & Lomb Science Foundation to winners among more than 8,600 participating schools throughout the United States. Surveys indicate the award has encouraged more than 30 per cent of the winners to follow scientific careers.

Teacher Workshop

On November 13, 35 area elementary and secondary teachers spent the day at Campion sharing ideas and techniques in individualizing instruction. The participants were led by a team of teachers from Edgewood High School, Madison, who have been working on projects in individualized instruction in the Madison area schools. Sisters Ann McMahon and Suzanne Lorentz, team leaders, demonstrated individual and group techniques with the participants. Simulations were based upon the work of Sidney Simon, an educator from the University of Massachusetts who has done considerable work on values and value clarification in the process of education.

Participants observed and shared examples of one another's methods of providing individualized learning experiences for their students. They inspected learning packets, mini-pacs, contracts, learning capsules, and simulation exercises.

Father Robert Fitzgerald, English and Communications instructor on the Campion faculty, conducted a demonstration in multi-media. With the assistance of several Campion students, Father Fitzgerald demonstrated a number of student-created 16 millimeter films, animated 8 millimeter films, and a sound-slide presentation. Many stimulating and exciting teaching ideas and practices were shared at the one-day workshop.

New Theatre on Campus

On December 17 and 18, Campion's drama group, Les Bouffons, under the direction of Mrs. Alice Krahn, presented a dramatic revue, When can I go into the supermarket and buy what I need with my good looks. Randy Hayes with his opening song, "Who am I," set the tone and question for the evening. Through individual and choral poetry readings and dramatic sketches, the group thought out loud about who they were as individuals and as members of a country with problems of war, impersonalism, confused sexual roles, and false patriotism.

In one of the most moving sketches, Doug Foxgrover as an old man selling newspapers stops in for a cup of tea from a shop owner, Markus Winkler. Through his seemingly meaningless conversation about which paper was the first to sell out, the Times or the News, the audience senses much more, the desire of an old man for a place in the sun. The shop owner does no more than simply give him his tea. The old newspaper seller leaves as poor inside as when he first limped in from the cold. Tragedy in short order.

The best commentary on the revue came from two of the actors. Doug Fox-

grover remarked, "From September to December Les Bouffons grew into a community." Pete Geldner, a freshman who played the part of a businessman waiting at a bus stop in Pinter's Request Stop, commented: "This was my first real exposure to the work and satisfaction in drama. I feel I want to do more as my acting experience grows." Their next production will be A Midsummer Night's Dream for the mothers' weekend this spring.

Narnia: Place of Peace and Harmony

Seeing a need on campus for a place for people to come together and relax with varied entertainment, Mr. Hal Dessel, S.J., and a group of students turned the club room with small tables and brightly tie-dyed tablecloths into a cozy coffee house called Narnia, after the secret land of C. S. Lewis. Some of the highlights so far: the "Game of Life" (growth game in which each member gets a chance to reflect on his stance to the community), films such as Stringbean, Why Man Creates, and Nanook of the North. Most recently in spite of twenty degree below weather Narnia hosted a showing of teen-made films midst vast sales of pizza. Fr. James Strzok, teacher of the new and quite popular photography course, showed two of his own films, Sunset, done in time lapse photography, and Traces, a moving montage of New York scenes.

Campion Scholar Honored

Robert D. Ewing of Teutopolis, Ill., was named a State Scholar by the Illinois Scholarship Commission. He was among 16,200 students chosen from 52,400 who entered the competition for state awards. Selection is based on high school academic record and test scores on the test given by the American College Testing Program (ACT).

All State Scholars receive a Certificate of Merit. Those with financial need may receive up to $1,200 for use toward tuition and fees at a public or private Illinois college of the student's choice.

Writing Workshop Formed

New on campus this year is a writing group with students from the local public high school and Wyalusing Academy joining Campion students. The group meets each Wednesday night to exchange writing and see a short film. Each receives duplicated copies of whatever another has done and gets a chance to put his voice behind whatever he has written. Senior Mark Otteson says, "It's a chance for people to write what they feel, get honest feedback and develop their style in a relaxed atmosphere, a chance to let go and write yourself out. A year ago I couldn't write this way."

Pakistani Fast Brings Contributions

Along with the Nov. 3rd observance of the Fast to Save a People, students, faculty and parents contributed $900.00 for the East Pakistani Refugees. The money was sent to Mr. Jean Vanier who works with Mother Teresa of Calcutta. On Dec. 10th Mr. Vanier and Mother Teresa left for the Camps of East Pakistani Refugees in India. The money contributed will be placed in an account set aside for these Refugees.

Dollar-A-Month Club

This past summer Rev. Gregory F. Lucey, S.J., appointed a new committee to solicit donations for the Dollar-A-Month Club. The committee is composed of past presidents of the Campion Mothers' Club of Chicago from 1960-1970. The annual letter to friends of Campion requesting donations was mailed in November and was signed by Mrs. Harold Dannhausen, Mrs. Jerome Burke, Mrs. Clarence Wagner, Mrs. John Wakefield and Mrs. Joseph Olivieri. Your cooperation is a token of your gratitude to Campion and is greatly appreciated. Checks may be mailed to the Campion Dollar-A-Month Club, P.O. Box 45133, Chicago, Ill. 60645.

French Room Inviting and Instructional

Maybe it's the soft background music that causes you to peek in the door of 301 Campion Hall, but once you're in those old armchairs offer a pleasant change from the desk you just got out of. The drapes are gaudy and the tablecloths too bright, but you'd like to see what kind of wine once graced the candleholders. Some of the French literature books may be too tough, but at least you can pick out a few phrases from the magazine ads.

You may have walked into one of Father Boehme's or Mr. Drake's French classes, but there's always room for more (at least on the carpet — which may give you a better perspective on Toulouse-Lautrec anyway.) You may have some grammar or vocabulary thrown at you, but it may just be a question about your Saturday night date, to see if you can use what you've learned.

You may not go so far as to apply to go to Europe this summer, but just relax, and who knows, — maybe you'll feel like saying something "a la francaise."

Awareness Day Observed

On Tuesday, November 16, Mr. Boor and six students — Kevin Havlik, Tom Freeman, Charles Hohmeier, Scott Russell, Pierre Gregoire, and Dan Roseliep — attended a Day of Awareness at Viterbo College in La Crosse. They were among two hundred students and adults who heard talks, saw films, and took part in activities intended to give some insight into problems of injustice, hunger, ignorance, and poverty. Their response to the program inspired an awareness day on campus Saturday, December 4. The theme for the Campion day was "Poverty on the National and International Level."

Among the featured speakers were Margarito Martinez, an active leader of the Chicanos in Wisconsin, Father James O'Connor, an American Problems teacher at Campion, and Sally Scarf, from the Crawford County Welfare Department.

Films were presented throughout the day followed by group discussions. Simulation games were conducted, demonstrating the use of power and manipulation in today's society. The day ended with a liturgy in the student chapel.

Teacher Attends Science Institute

Thomas G. Roach, math and physics teacher at Campion, is enrolled in a year-long institute for science teachers at La Crosse State University.

The institute is funded by the National Science Foundation and is designed for ninth grade science teachers. Dr. Dell Frystrom, department of physics at La Crosse State, and Wayne Jurgensen of North Crawford High School are conducting the in-service training sessions. Physical science and introductory physics and chemistry are subjects treated during the year.

Coupon Drive Begun

A campaign to collect Betty Crocker coupons to help obtain a car for student activities at Campion will be announced shortly. In the interim Betty Crocker coupons can be mailed to Mrs. Edward J. Jassak, 307 Fremont South, West Chicago, Illinois 60185.

Excerpts from "FREEDOM, EQUALITY AND PLURALITY IN AMERICAN EDUCATION"

The following article is taken from a statement issued by the Superintendents of the National Catholic Educational Association at the end of their national meeting, April 15, 1971. At a time when we are deeply concerned about preserving private education as an option, I thought you might find their remarks worth reading.

Gregory F. Lucey, S.J.

In the view of the Superintendents Department of the National Catholic Educational Association one of the paramount challenges of our times is to recreate in our important institutions an environment congenial to the genuine pluralism that is indispensable to quality human development. Specifically, this nation needs a legal and educational system which will foster the truly human development of the person through cultural, ethnic, religious and intellectual diversity. We do not reject the collectivization of many human activities, but we doubt its application to education of the mind and spirit.

This problem is what makes the jurisprudence of the First Amendment so important as it develops in such cases as Walz v. Tax Commission of the City of New York, Lemon v. Kurtzman, DiCenso v. Robinson, Tilton v. Richardson, and Early v. DiCenso. A fundamental question facing the Court in these cases is basically: Can the law provide for educational diversity in our country or are we doomed to the establishment of an educational monolith? The Court's response is crucial. If pluralism dies in education, its ultimate survival in the cultural and intellectual areas of American life is threatened. Pluralism on the cultural and deeper personal-value levels is a fundamental good; from diversity on these levels come strength, creative option, and — more important — the strongest practical foundation for personal freedom. We wish to express our agreement with the basic philosophy expressed by Justice Brennan in his concurring opinion in Walz v. Tax Commission of the City of New York (397 U.S. 689): "... Government grants exemptions to religious organizations because they uniquely contribute to the pluralism of American society by their religious activities. Government may properly include religious institutions among the variety of private, nonprofit groups that receive tax exemptions, for each group contributes to the diversity of association, viewpoint and enterprise essential to a vigorous pluralistic society."

In recent years a serious search at last has begun for solutions to the basic question — how can society provide freedom of choice for all classes, but particularly for the poor? Many different proposals have been proffered: tax credits, tuition grants, purchase of service, auxiliary services, vouchers, and categorical aid. There are indeed forms of aid, the primary effects of which are to provide true choice and the hope for true variety in education for all social classes.

The Superintendents Department of the National Catholic Educational Association maintains that every existing and proposed form of state or federal aid to education should be evaluated. In seeking such aid neither the nonpublic nor the public sectors should be viewed as competing for scarce educational dollars but as cooperating to attract increased community support for education and to make the most efficient use of available funds. On the practical level this means that legislation extending any degree of public support to educational services offered in nonpublic schools must include provision for adequate funding sources which do not diminish or divert funds already committed to and needed by the public sector. Citizens, educators, and legislators should be fully informed of the importance of the nonpublic sector in maintaining and improving community educational services at a unit cost lower than that required in public institutions. At present nonpublic schools save the taxpayers billions of dollars a year in the states.

Models of financial aid should permit families including the poor, to choose among educations of varying styles. Such assistance would necessarily include assurance of fairness in the application of funds, safeguards against discrimination, and accounting systems to restrict tax monies to secular purposes in accord with the Schempp and Allen criteria.

The demonstrable achievement of the church-related school has been to educate Americans in full accord with the test in Abington School District v. Schempp (374 U.S. 203): "... To withstand the structures of the Establishment Clause there must be a secular legislative purpose and a primary effect that neither advances nor inhibits religion." This public purpose has been achieved through a quality of professional service that has enriched American education, as acknowledged by Justice White in the Board of Education v. Allen (392 U.S. 236): "Private education has played and is playing a significant and valuable role in raising national levels of knowledge, competence, and experience. Americans care about the quality of the secular education available to their children. They have considered high quality education to be an indispensable ingredient for achieving the kind of a nation and the kind of citizenry that they have desired to create. Considering this attitude, the continued willingness to rely on private school systems, including parochial systems, strongly suggests that a wide segment of informed opinion, legislative and otherwise, has found that those schools do an acceptable job of providing secular education to their students. This judgment is further evidence that parochial schools are performing, in addition to their sectarian function, the task of secular education."

Properly fashioned, financial aid to education according to the above criteria could — for the first time in our history — provide variety, freedom of choice, accountability, integration, and equality of opportunity within tax financed education.

The Superintendents Department of the National Catholic Educational Association urges the states and the federal government to undertake serious experimentation with all of these systems of aid. It is time that the rhetoric of freedom, equality, and plurality of choice be given substance for all income classes in American society.

Campion Evaluation

the wing community system and were surprised at the almost total acceptance of the pluralism of programs and structures in the different wings. They were amazed that this system had come so far in such a short time.

They also made very positive observations about the academic program at Campion. The committee noted that our program of studies includes a comprehensive variety of courses in each major department, with four year sequences of study in most areas. They praised the obvious commitment of the faculty, evidenced by the long hours, even life dedication, given to the procurement of total well-being for Campion students. They especially commended the large number of rich faculty-student interrelationships which is evidenced by the relaxed, healthy atmosphere both within and outside of classes.

But the committee did not come merely to praise the strengths of our program. They also noted problem areas and made recommendations they felt would improve our program. Most of these recommendations focused on two concepts: accountability and communication. The committee saw a need for clarifying responsibilities among various offices and departments as well as among dorm staff, and a need for better coordination of the overall program. This demands increased communication among the faculty and between the faculty and administration. They further recommended that we set up definite procedures to facilitate this increased communication — not just hope it happens. Each subcommittee made further specific recommendations on the area they observed.

The full report of the evaluation committee was given to the entire faculty and discussed at a school policy committee meeting in mid-November. Small group discussions were set up during the four weeks preceding Christmas. And a workshop for the entire staff was scheduled for January 6 and 7. An agenda committee headed by Father Hilbert, S.J., met during the vacation to organize and structure this workshop. The faculty then spent two days of intensive discussion based on the observations of the evaluation committee and on the results of the small group discussions before Christmas. Several resolutions were passed and several standing committees were set up to hammer out further resolutions to be submitted to the whole faculty at regularly scheduled future faculty meetings.

Father Lucey, S.J., expressed his gratitude to the evaluation committee for their

Knights Look Toward State Tournament

Two Easy Points For Mike White

Playing in one of the most balanced races in CWCC history, the Knights went home for Christmas in fourth place with a 4-2 conference record, following three teams tied for first. The Knights' victories included a win over one of the first place teams and very close losses to the other two.

Campion started the season strong with wins over St. John's Military Academy, Richland Center, and Mauston, and a loss to state ranked LaCrosse Central. The Conference race started, and the Knights proved that they were contenders. Wins over Columbus, Newman, McDonell, and Aquil-generous and very valuable service to our efforts. Though on campus only three days, they pinpointed both our strengths and weaknesses with amazing accuracy. And they provided us with an objective analysis by outside observers that has formed the basis for serious self-evaluation. The excellent groundwork for this further evaluation evident in the subsequent meetings and discussions promise that desired changes to continue improving our program will be made.

nas, and losses to league leaders Assumption and Pacelli gave the Knights a 4-2 Christmas break record.

Coming back early after vacation, the team met Eau Claire Regis and won 79-54. The Knights then invaded Wausaw Newman's gym for a game with one of the first place teams. After taking a first half lead of eleven points, the Knights got in foul trouble. With 6' 7" center Mike White out much of the third quarter, Glen Allen was left to battle Newman's three big men alone. The loss, 75-62, leaves the Knights with slim hope of a conference title. But the match-up in the regionals still gives Campion a good chance to return to the state tournament this year.

Goodrich, Nelson Join Campion Basketball Camp

Gail Goodrich

Don Nelson

Gail Goodrich, former All-American guard at UCLA, and presently starting in the back court for the Los Angeles "Lakers", and Don Nelson, former All-American at the University of Iowa and now one of the top players for the Boston "Celtics" will be the guest headliners at the Campion Championship Basketball Camp in Prairie du Chien, Wis., this summer.

Last summer over four hundred boys from seven states were enrolled in the four sessions. These boys are instructed by some of the finest high school and college coaches in the Midwest, and are taught the basic fundamentals of shooting, passing, and dribbling, so important to their future as a basketball player.

The camp brochure will be mailed out to all high school coaches in Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Minnesota and also to all former campers on February 1. Anyone interested in obtaining a brochure or receiving further information about the camp should contact Don Gosz, the Camp Director. This summer's four sessions will run from June 25 to July 1; July 2 to 8; July 16 to 22; July 23 to 29. Boys from 10 to 18 are eligible to enroll.

Letter To The Editor

January 13, 1972

Dear Editor:

After being stationed in West Berlin, Germany for over three and one half years, I thought it would be nice to tell what has happened to me over the years.

As a member of the WSAFSS, my job has been one of Radio Intercept Processing Specialist. Between April '67 and March '68, I was stationed at Indiana University to learn to read, write, and speak the Russian language in nine months.

From there I was sent to Texas for more training in Security and then to the surrounded-wall in the city of West Berlin, 110 miles inside of East Germany. By the way, West Berlin, even though completely surrounded by Russian Forces, is one of the most fascinating cities in the world. I have been here since May 1968.

Campion Southwest

"You just can't get away from Campion." This was Father Lucey's conclusion after his pre-Christmas vacation in Tucson. The purpose of the trip was strictly to relax and have a real change of scenery. After a day or so, Father got curious about who from Campion was living in the area. Much to his surprise he found himself surrounded.

Within a block of his apartment was a silversmith, Bernard Coyle '62, working busily on special Christmas orders. Bernie has traveled much, tried several areas of work but seems content with his single status and his craft. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Coyle '29, also live in Tucson. They are operating the limousine service from Tucson International.

On down the Prince Road, Joe Riley '69, and his brother Rory '72 live with their family. Joe is in school at Flagstaff; Rory is a senior at Selpoint.

Also in town is the mother and sister of John I. Reilly '57. John is with the government in Jackson, Mississippi.

In Tucson, Father Lucey also visited with Dr. John F. McCormick '27 and his family at their home. By phone he reached Dr. James A. Reilly '44, Francis J. Schmieder '25, Joseph F. Studer '22 and Richard R. Trimarco '53.

A one-day trip to Phoenix enabled Father Lucey to call ten other alumni and visit three others. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Shepard '25, retired and living in Litchfield Park, treated Father Lucey to lunch. Paul Verschoor '50 and Larry Ockenfels '49 dropped in on Father at St. Francis Xavier rectory to reminisce.

Prominent Alumnus Dies

Dr. James W. McGill '18 C'21, 1718 Hammond Ave., Superior, Wis., prominent physician and civic and fraternal leader died Nov. 8, 1971 following a lengthy illness. He had retired from general practice in 1967.

Dr. McGill was the recipient of a great number of honors during his lifetime. Participation included terms of office as president of the Irish Society, president of the Little Theater, Rotary and membership in the American Legion; he took an active part in his church organizations, having been the first president of the SERRA Club and four times grand knight of the Knights of Columbus, and faithful navigator of the Fourth Degree of the same organization. As a tribute to outstanding service to his church and to his community, Pope Pius XII conferred upon him the pontifical honor of Knight of St. Gregory in 1955. This is one of the highest papal honors bestowed on a layman.

He graduated from Campion College in 1921 with a Bachelor of Arts degree and where he was a member of the football team, and captain in his senior year. He was also active in dramatics and debating. He received his bachelor of science degree in '23 from St. Louis U., and doctor of medicine degree in '25 from the same school.

The Superior doctor's practice spanned a period of 40 years. In general practice he acknowledged a specialty in obstetrics and gynecology. Dr. McGill received the B'nai B'rith, sponsored outstanding citizen award in 1966. His widow lives at the above address. He is the father of John M. '56, Baytown, Tex., and James W.
